About Me

I'm an Agile Project Manager with 10+ years of experience leading multidisciplinary global, remote, and hybrid teams across time zones. I specialise in predicting immersive digital experiences, and delivering MVPs, high-end digital products, UX-focused projects, and data-driven solutions for startups, corporates, and type A brands.

I love building strong client relationships, working collaboratively with my teams, and diving into the details from both creative and tech. I wear different hats based on project and business needs, from Scrum Master and Product Owner to Copywriter or Consultant, helping to drive digital projects forward from concept to launch and beyond.
